BESTMIX

RECIPE MANAGEMENT

BESTMIX® Software designs best-in-class software solutions for nutrition industries that combine industry-specific knowledge with a relentless passion for innovation.

WWW.BESTMIX.COM

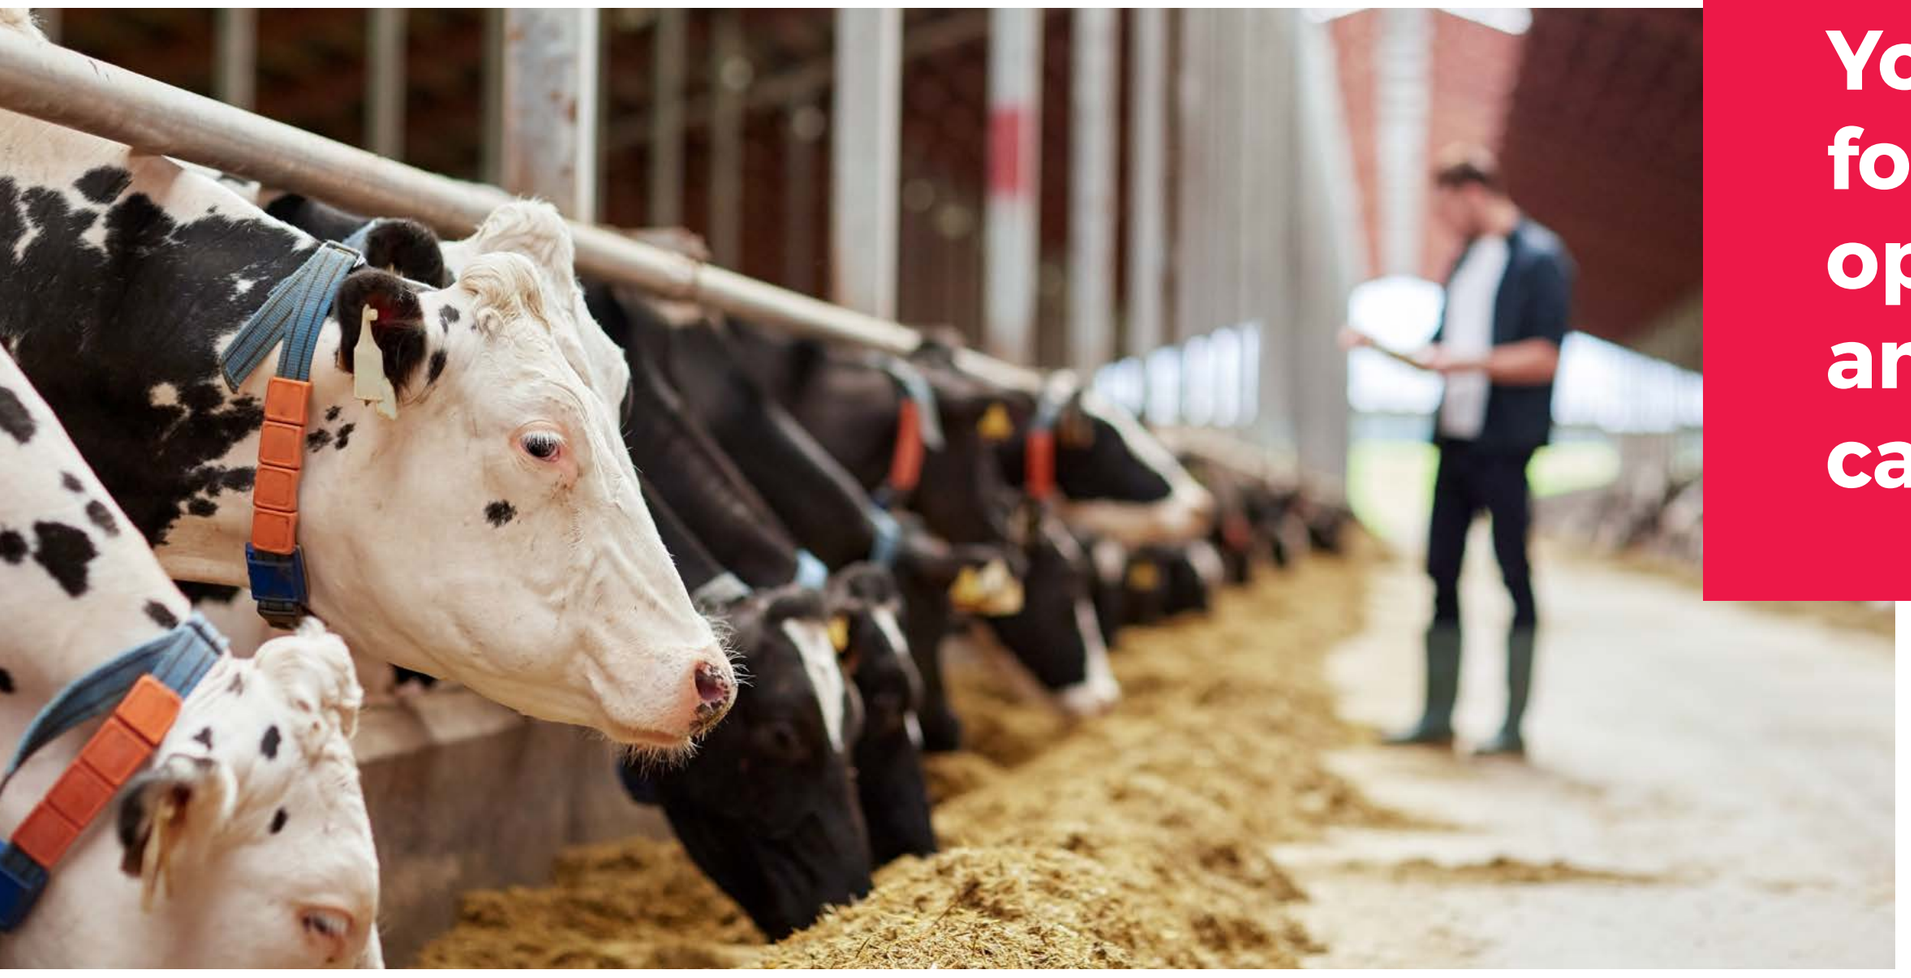

Discover our solution for feed and ration

What is BESTMIX® Recipe Management?

BESTMIX® Recipe Management allows you to seamlessly adapt all recipes to the expectations of your customer and the market. This user-friendly platform takes all essential criteria into account during the product formulation: quality requirements, company-specific standards, health and nutritional properties, legal and environmental requirements, and more.

Based on up-to-date information, BESTMIX® Recipe Management always proposes the most cost-efficient solution which fully complies with your quality standards. Moreover, this software facilitates the optimal interaction between your company and your customers.

Your partner for feed optimization and ration calculation

Why BESTMIX® Recipe Management?

BESTMIX® Recipe Management offers a unique concept:
One Tool - Multi Animal Type - Multi Model - Multi User.

Premix and feed manufacturers manage all aspects of their feed formulation on one central platform.

In turn, your advisors and sales teams have an extra asset in order to support their customers. By means of the integrated ration functionality, they propose the optimal ration even up to the level of an individual animal, regardless of its stage.

The users can choose between standard animal models adapted to the needs and the region in which they are active (CNCPS, CVB, NRC, INRA, DLG, FiM...) or they can create their own models. This way, BESTMIX® Recipe Management bridges the gap between the feed and premix manufacturers on the one hand, and the farmers on the other hand.

Which benefits does BESTMIX® Recipe Management offer?

01 / Cost reduction

BESTMIX® Recipe Management takes into account the impact of the production process on the nutritional and functional properties of your ingredients. By estimating the effect of enzymes and drying, amongst other things, in advance, you can easily and quickly formulate the most cost-efficient recipes.

02 / A flexible switch

The raw material and feed market is constantly evolving. BESTMIX® Recipe Management allows you to adapt quickly. In case of fluctuating raw material prices, changing logistic challenges or new regulations, our software will give you a quick insight into the appropriate alternatives. Moreover, this knowledge proves its value while advising your customers. They learn in detail how fluctuating animal and raw material prices affect their results and how they can anticipate this with your help. Your customer advisor quickly learns to know the specific expectations of the end users and feed them back to the formulator via BESTMIX® Recipe Management.

03 / The controlled creation of labels and specifications

After the creation or optimization of a product, BESTMIX® Recipe Management will automatically adapt the required legal and commercial documents. All labels, product specifications, feeding tables and safety datasheets will be immediately available, both inside and outside the company walls.

04 / A streamlined collaboration within a secure environment

BESTMIX® Recipe Management facilitates the internal collaboration between nutritionists, formulators, R&D, quality employees, purchasers, production employees and customer advisors. The inventive central platform also allows to safely exchange information in real time with external parties such as laboratories, consultancy companies and auditors.

05 / Save time

BESTMIX® Recipe Management accelerates the development time of new recipes, allowing you to more quickly introduce new or adapted products to the market. With a centralized database, both feed advisors and formulators cooperate during the creation of rations and complete feed, allowing you to avoid repetitive work.

06 / Future-oriented

BESTMIX® Software has developed BESTMIX® Recipe Management specifically for the nutrition industry. Thanks to continuous updates, based on the latest developments within the sector and the feedback from our customers, our software always follows the most recent market evolutions. Consequently, you will always be assured of a future-oriented formulation platform which seamlessly connects with the digital transition being developed within the nutritional world.

07 / Always compliant

Thanks to our integrated best practices, regular updates and the possibility to integrate your own procedures, you can always work according to legal and company-specific rules. This way, BESTMIX® Recipe Management supports your company in complying with the rules; now and in the future.

08 / Justified purchasing decisions

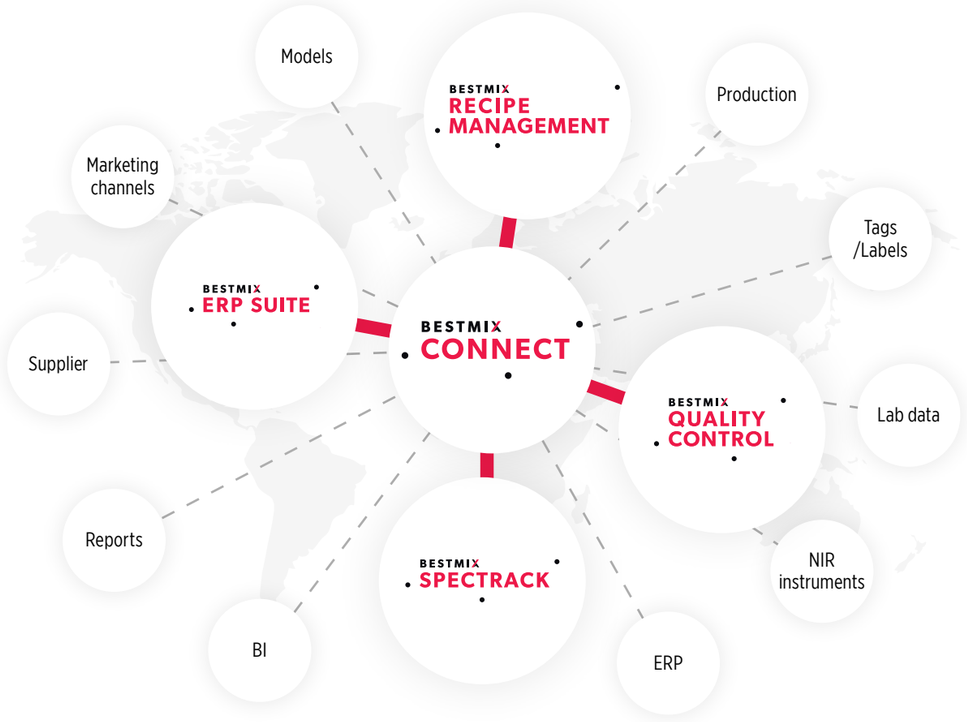

Thanks to BESTMIX® Recipe Management, the purchase department always have detailed and up-to-date information. By means of 'What if?' scenarios, they can simulate the effect of certain raw materials on the composition, nutritional value and price of the end product. Therefore, they can always make their purchasing decisions in line with the reality and trends on the worldwide and local raw material markets.

09 / A user-friendly and customizable interface

BESTMIX® Software knows its users. This has resulted in an extremely user-friendly interface with many options for setting your own preferences and needs.

Our software integrations

Highlights

Customer service

Industry knowledge

Global presence

Fully integrated

Almost 50 years experience

About BESTMIX® Software

At BESTMIX® Software, we're proud to offer industry-leading applications and expertise for clients across the globe. Continuous input from our users, almost 50 years of experience and state-of-the art technology guarantee innovative products that make a difference.

Our mission

Our mission, "Software feeding the future," highlights our dedication to not only deliver state-of-the-art solutions but also to be a reliable long-term partner for our customers. This is proven by our dedication to create specialized tools that can easily be integrated with one another. With stricter customer service and quality demands and a constant strain on the prices of raw materials, we are convinced now more than ever of the added value we can offer through our solutions and integrations.

Our strategy

We develop, sell and implement our software in one offering to enable your company to reach its goals. With our almost 50 years of experience in this business, we relish the opportunity to exceed your goals and to push your company further up the ladder of world-class performance.

Every day, a team of over 160 Agri- and IT-engineers, our seasoned industry specialists, creates and supports the world's most advanced systems for nutrition companies. With over 1000 companies and many thousands of users worldwide, our offering is extensive in every area – from our product to our consultancy to support during and after implementation. The result is a partnership that encompasses all departments of your organization.

BESTMIX
SOFTWARE feeding the future

BESTMIX® Software • Industrielaan 11b, 9990 Maldegem, BELGIUM • +32 50 303 211 • info@bestmix.com

www.bestmix.com